McGee Wins at the 68th State Fair

RALEIGH—Eighteen year old Colter McGee, an apprentice with McGee Brothers Company in Midland, is the Champion of the 68th Annual ApprenticeshipNC State Fair Masonry Contest held October 17th in Raleigh. The rest of the fair contest top-ten respectively were Cade Huntley, Huntley Brothers Company; Anderson Pruet, Helms Masonry Inc.; Chance Reynolds, McGee Brothers Company; Alec Huntley, Huntley Brothers Company; Israel Bugarin, Fred Mason Masonry; Jose Ortega, Brodie Contractors; Cristian Gallegos, Brodie Contractors; Annayeli Dionisio, Fred Mason Masonry; Evan Sherrill, McGee Brothers Company. The champion is the son of Doc and Kerry McGee and the late Sam McGee's grandson. Colter attended Shiloh Vocational School where is studied masonry. His brother, Grayson, says "There are few things in life more enjoyable than handing down what you know to the next man in line and seeing masons learn it and apply it." He was proud of his brother, because Colter was able to this. Colter says, "I would like to thank everyone who helped me to accomplish this goal, it means a lot to be able to win a contest with so many talented masons in it." He practiced for the contest by building the project 3 or 4 times.

Thirty-five apprentices from nine NCMCA member firms competed. NCMCA Ryan Shaver coordinated the competition and expressed appreciation to all the volunteers who worked tirelessly Sunday afternoon for setup and all day Monday to tend, judge and cleanup the event.

Contest Chairman Calvin Brodie expressed appreciation to all the firms that contributed with financial and in-kind donations to make the 2022 contest successful, including:

Message From the President

Hope everyone enjoyed Thanksgiving and is looking forward to time with family and friends at Christmas. Our 10th series of Certification begins on December 7th, so please review your employees to make sure they have all the classes needed to meet CMP or CME status. NCMCA Leadership retreat in November was very productive, so be looking for exciting changes and additions coming at our January board meeting. Hope to see everyone soon. Bo

Raleigh/Murdell 2023:

The Raleigh Chapter is going back to Myrtle Beach January 13-15, 2023 for the 23rd annual chapter golf tournament. There were 11 tournaments previously held in Raleigh prior to going to “Murdell”. The application is on the NCMCA website. The chapter has raised over $110,000 since the beginning, all going towards masonry promotions so join a great cause and fun event. Weather forecast has it being a great year. For more information, contact Doug Burton: doug@whitmanmasonry.com

Metrolina Golf Tournament

The team of Scott Wilson, Dwayne Bryant, Nick Barnes, & Alex Hunter were the winners of the Metrolina Chapter’s Annual Golf Tournament held at the Mooresville Municipal Golf Course November 9, 2022. Coming in Second was the team of Mike Cook, Brandon Roberts, Chet Huntley, and Matt Cash. Third Place was awarded to Patrick Jones, Rick Robarge, Pat Porter, and Brenden McWilliams. Longest Drive was awarded to Matt Cash. Closest to the Pin was awarded to Rick Robarge. Thank you to all of our tournament sponsors! Stay tuned for more upcoming events after the first of the year!

Some five hundred students from across North Carolina participated in hands-on exhibits and competitions, met potential employers, and enjoyed a hotdog lunch provided by Johnson Concrete Products. It was a huge success, thanks to everyone that volunteered their time. With an adjusted count of 742 brick laid in one hour, the team of tender Ben Bost and mason Wriston McGee of McGee Brothers Company won the October Carolina Qualifier for the upcoming 2023 Las Vegas SPEC MIX Bricklayer 500 World Championship. Wriston will be making a return trip to Las Vegas having also qualified in 2021. The regional qualifier was part of the Sixth Annual Masonry Education Day at Stalite’s Ben Ketchie Park in Gold Hill. In the qualifier, the team of Keith Helms with tender Scott Helms of Helms Masonry Inc. won “The Top Craftsman” recognition which goes to the mason with the “most sellable” wall. Second place went to the team of Grant Helms with tender Anderson Pruet of Helms Masonry Inc. (with an adjusted count of 714) followed by Cody Alward with tender Hazen Alward in third place (with an adjusted count of 549). With an adjusted count of 293, the East Rowan High School team of Mason Ridenhour with tender Braxton Smith won the Jr. SPEC MIX Bricklayer 500 followed by mason Israel Burgarin and tender Leslie Maldonado of Columbus Career & College Academy in second place and the West Rowan High School team of mason O’Connor Leonard and tender Dillion Smith in third place.

New Location for NCMCA in the BIG town of Mt. Pleasant, NC

The article that was in the September newsletter featuring "BIG changes," have been happening in Mt. Pleasant! NCMCA has a new home! We are super excited and would love for everyone to come visit. The address is 8030 North Drive, Mt. Pleasant, NC 28124. Things are up and running and slowly transitioning from the Hickory office. Lots of hard work from many hands have made the move possible. Special thanks to Belgard /Oldcastle APG Product for a generous donation of permeable pavers. The Hickory office is still in operation, however; beginning January 1 we plan to have most everything running out of the Mt. Pleasant office. Please send all mail PO Box 308, Mt. Pleasant, NC 28124.

Message from Ryan:

EXCITING TIMES AHEAD!!

As we enter into the Christmas season and as the year ends, the NCMCA is at a great place of transition. Our executive board met in mid-November for a retreat and planning session which was extremely productive! The NCMCA has been at the top of the list for a lot of reasons over the years, and my goal is to maintain that and build on that for how we move forward. Many years ago, when I interviewed for the masonry instructor position at Mt. Pleasant High School, the Principal asked me, "How are you going to fill Doug Drye's shoes?" Doug had done what is still respected today in that he placed many students in the masonry career path such as he did for me. I will answer that question the same as I did in 2008. Today in fact, now I have to fill Lynn Nash's shoes and all the things he has done to build and make the NCMCA so great. My answer then and is still now, "Everything that we do moving forward and the great things ahead, are not filling his shoes but an extension of the shoes that have allowed us to be who we are!" Lynn has done what has been sought after across the nation by other state masonry associations and I am thankful that I got to work close to him for 5 years and see all the behind the scenes work that he does to make all the events possible! In the picture you will see the two guys that I have had to fill their shoes and also see the two guys that have made a huge impact on me and my path in the industry. I hope Lynn will enjoy his retirement and he has promised Jodi and I that his phone will always be on, but that he will have a new number that will not be shared! I look forward to all the new challenges that are ahead and keeping the NCMCA at the highest level in the future! Thanks to each of you and for all you do to make the NCMCA the best!!! Ryan

Board Meeting Review

The NCMCA Board of Directors conducted an in-person meeting on September 7th, 2022, at Triangle Brick Corporate office in Durham NC. The next NCMCA Board Meeting will be held on January 4th at Triangle Brick Corporate Office, 6523 NC-55, Durham, NC 27713 at 1:00 pm. The following is a summary of the last board meeting.

Treasurer Tim Manning presented his NCMCA Financial Fast Facts sheet that detailed all the financial numbers for the NCMCA current to September 2, 2022. Pete Schantz with Mountcastle provided a report on the association's health and benefits program, which included out of pocket maximums, HSA, BCBSNC announcements, and Compliance responsibilities for employers. Trisure's, John Cramer reported on the NCMCA's liability and workers compensation program. John spoke about subcontractor liability and what to look for in the contract. He also spoke about company auto safety, Silica standard, and scaffolding. President-Elect Cliff McGee provided a committee report including a written review of the Workforce Development and Training Program. Mr. Gary Joyner spoke about the MCAA Education Foundation Grant that NC received, and Kent Huntley spoke about things that are happening at the MCAA. Doug Burton spoke about the current certification class that finished as well as the numbers needed to start the next series of certification. John Cramer spoke about the NC OSHA Heat Standard for 2023. Brandon Hartsell was not present to speak about social media, but Lynn Nash spoke on his behalf and the new office manager, Jodi Helms will be taking over the social media for NCMCA. Mr. David McQueen reported about the upcoming state golf tournament at Mill Creek and the effort that the golf committee has put into this year's tournament. The future Staffing Committee headed by Danks Burton gave a report on the hiring process of Jodi Helms and also the timeline for the three employees with the NCMCA. Lynn Nash gave an update on the 2023 Annual Convention that will be held at Kingston Plantation in Myrtle Beach. Ryan Shaver reported on the software updates being made as well as the transition of the NCMCA office from Hickory to Mt. Pleasant. Lynn Nash provided the Central Office report that spoke about the seven new members as well as the 18 NCMCA "Distinguished" and "Leadership" members. Lynn also noted the sponsors for the upcoming golf tournament. The chapter reports were presented from each local chapter with representatives from the Eastern, Metrolina and Raleigh Chapter present. The possible by-laws change for the Executive Committee to be able to make personnel discussions for hiring and salary was discussed and will be voted on in January by the board for approval. The new category of membership was discussed, the member emeritus was already in place in the bylaws. New business included the new CMU Checkoff Board announcement as well as the SCMA session on future programs. Thomas Davis spoke at the board meeting with a legal update on lien waivers and subcontractors list on government projects. The Board meeting ended with an open discussion in which membership, chapter involvement, board retreat, and the next meeting were discussed. Please mark your calendar and plan on being at the next NCMCA Board Meeting on January 4th in Durham.

Sigmon and Dwayne's son Randy.
