Congratulations to NCMCA Past President Calvin Brodie who was inducted into the MCAA Masonry Hall of Fame in Hershey, PA on September 20, 2023

On September 20, 2023, Calvin Brodie was inducted into MCAA Masonry Hall of Fame in Hershey, PA. Prior to his induction, Lynn Nash submitted a nomination for Calvin Brodie with the help of Debra Brodie and family, Danks Burton, Doug Burton, Ryan Shaver and Macy Williams.

Mr. Brodie is the founder and president of Brodie Contractors in Raleigh, North Carolina. He has, and continues to be, a major figure and influencer in the masonry community both in the Carolina and across the country. Mr. Brodie will make a worthy addition to the honor roll of Hall-of-Fame members.

NCMCA members showed up strong in Hershey, PA to support Calvin with the largest delegation from any state! Thanks for all of your support

NCMCA

In preparing this nomination, I invited Calvin's wife Debra to send me information I could incorporate into this submittal. As it happens, what Debra sent to me thoroughly summarizes Calvin's biological and career résumé. It follows.

The Beginning: An idea that started with two bricklayer, high school buddies has become one of the largest black-owned masonry companies in North Carolina.

Calvin R. Brodie, graduated from Bunn High School (BHS) in the class of 1973. He was a member of the football team, ran track and was a participant in the trades program. In trades he was taught to lay bricks by instructor Mr. David Turner, whom he is still in contact with today.

While in high school he and a classmate built the school's name sign that remained until recent renovation of the campus. Without funds to attend college, he knew he would have to use those skills and his hands to make a living for himself and a future family. After graduation, he worked as a bricklayer in the industry but in 1978 he and that classmate, Aubry Vines formed Brodie and Vines Masonry. Their first project was the K-Mart on Capital Blvd. in Raleigh. Calvin became a general contractor in 1985, but in 1989, Brodie and Vines partnership dissolved and Brodie Construction was formed.

During those early years, Calvin's office was his home basement and his secretary was his wife. He managed time to take a blueprint reading class through Wake Tech. Other than the class at Wake Tech, he has not received any other post high school education. Calvin performed in every facet of his company; bricklayer, estimator, project manager, mechanic, superintendent, but his most daunting task was making financial decisions and facing bankers, vendors and creditors on behalf of his company.

He often said "Brodie Construction was a baby" and it needed his attention daily. Often he would leave a project after laying brick, go into the nearest men's room, change into business attire to meet with a banker or vendor to transact business. He credits Tick Clancy for giving him those early opportunities that undoubtedly was a key to the success of his company. Clancy & Theys General Contractors continues to be one of his most sought after GC's for projects today.

In 1992, Brodie Construction became Brodie Contractors, Inc., (BCI) and currently has over 300 employees, including masons, laborers, estimators, project managers, safety inspector, construction office staff, truck drivers, welders, and mechanics.

Masonry projects completed throughout NC:

UNC Greensboro Student Recreation Center
NC A&T Football Stadium press box
Holy Name of Jesus Cathedral, Raleigh
Bryan Rd. Elementary School
Beaver Dam Elementary School
River Bend Middle School
Green Level High School and many other Wake County Public Schools

Professional Life: Through the years, Calvin has used the resources of his company to help with the building of the current Bunn High School (BHS) football field complex, BHS baseball field wall; and Bunn Elementary School concession stand for the recreation league. He has employed many young men, given advice and opportunities, paid tuition to truck driving school, and college tuition to deserving young people, with only one request "go make us proud!"

Calvin became a member of the Raleigh Chapter of the North Carolina Masonry Contractors Association in 1985, serving as the Chapter President in 1990.

He then served as the State Vice-President, Regional Vice-President, State Secretary-Treasurer, and the NCMCA President 1993-1995.

He is also a member of the Association General Contractors of America (AGC) and the Mason Contractors Association of America (MCAA.) He has served as North Carolina MCAA state representative.

Calvin has been recognized by Engineer News and Record, Masonry, and Black Enterprise magazines.

He has Co-Chaired the Annual Masonry Apprenticeship Skills Contest at the NC State Fair for more some thirty-five years and has sponsored many top journeyman masons as apprentice participants.

In 2008, Calvin was among the first to earn Certified Masonry Executive (CME) status in the NCMCA Masonry Contractor Certification Program. BCI was among the first firms to become a Certified Masonry Contractor in the NCMCA Certification Program.

He is a member of the National Masonry Instructors Association's "Hall-of-Fame."

In 2017 he began serving on the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University (NCA&TSU) Board of Trustees and the University of North Carolina - Greensboro (UNCG) Governance Board.

In 2019 he was inducted into Bunn High School Hall of Fame.

Calvin has served on the NCMCA Certification Board of Governors. BCI is among the firms that have produced and maintained the most NCMCA certified employees.

He was instrumental in creating the Workforce Development Initiative that NCMCA Executive Vice President Ryan Shaver conducts today, and was on the 1997 committee that hired NCMCA's previous and first Executive Vice President, Lynn Nash.

In 2021, and in other years, BCI was ranked "First" by number of employees on the list of minority-owned businesses in the Triangle area by The Triangle Business Journal.

In 2022, Business North Carolina magazine, BCI was among the twenty-five excelling minority owned companies in the state.

Family Life: Calvin is the fourth of ten children of the late Granderson and Martha Brodie. He married his wife Debra, a NCA&TSU, graduate in 1985. They are the parents of: Toby (Kim) Brodie; Imani (Chris) Surratt; Ilicia Brodie; Jasmine (Reggie) Washington and "CB" Calvin Brodie; seven grandchildren, Alexandria, Jordan, Josh, Kendall, Hope, Tre' and Hazel.

In his spare time Calvin enjoys caring for his cows, chickens, hunting, a collection of deer, elk and duck displays, ocean fishing, bike riding, watching sports, traveling to a NFL Dallas Cowboys game, and playing golf, which now that he is slowly, slowing down working in the business, he plays frequently. But his most favorite time of golfing is the annual "Murdell" golf trip to Myrtle Beach, SC with about forty of his closest friends in the business. They are his competitors and colleagues, but more importantly, his friends. In recent years he has participated in several American Heart Association bike rides, but the most challenging was the "Double Bypass Bike Ride" 68 miles over two passes in the Colorado mountains in 2022. He is a life member Mt. Moriah Baptist Church where he serves as deacon, church treasurer and usher.

"We are contractors, not minority contractors. I want to compete, and if my stuff isn't any good, I'm out of here. The fact that I'm a minority, I don't want to live on that. Legislation brought that in and legislature can take it out. But if I show up with a good product, a good crew of men, and my company performs well, the market is going to reward me. 'Always has.'" - Calvin Brodie, quoted in the February 2022 issue of North Carolina Business Journal

(From Debra Brodie, April 21, 2023)

In addition to Mrs. Brodie's detailed introduction of our nominee, I invited several of Calvin's business associates to provide quotes and thoughts for this nomination:

"Calvin Brodie came from humble beginnings. Growing up plowing farm ground with a hand plow behind a mule with his father, he took a liking to the outdoors and hard work.

"After deciding to leave the farm to start his masonry contracting business, he was denied by the banks to provide seed money for his start up as they never believed in him. That never stopped Brodie as he had his own beliefs. Those beliefs were in himself, so he started a masonry business anyway on a shoestring budget.

"Working day and night, Brodie was adamant that he would not fail. In fact, when his former partner thought he was crazy going all-in on big masonry projects, he ask Brodie, 'What if your big plan does not work?' In his famous one-line way he replied, 'What if it does?'

"Against all odds, Brodie grew the little masonry business into one of the largest masonry contracting firms in the country and still is today.

"If there is anyone deserving to be inducted into the Masonry Hall-of-Fame, it is Calvin Brodie."

- Damian L. Lang, CEO, Lang Masonry Contractors, Inc., EZG Manufacturing, a division of EZ Grout Corporation

"Calvin Brodie has been a profound leader and mentor to many in the masonry industry. I will be forever grateful for the positive impact that he has made in my life."

- Macy Williams, Executive Vice President, Brodie Contractors, Inc.

"Calvin Brodie is known in North Carolina and Raleigh masonry circles as "Elvis," the king of masonry which is accurate and appropriate. I have known Calvin since 1986 and competed with him every day since. He is tough, fair and a knowledgeable competitor. He is a believer in and promoter of masonry at the local, state and national level.

"He has been an active participant at all levels since I have known him. He is there financially, verbally and in person to promote our industry and our associations. He has provided counsel to numerous individuals and companies with their advancement in masonry. He is active civically as well serving on the local board of Truist Bank and on the N C A&T University Board of Trustees.

"He has served as President of the NC Masonry Contractors Association as well as President of the local Raleigh chapter. He has been chairman of the NC Department of Community Colleges Apprenticeship Contest held annually for the past 35 years. He has been State Chairman of NC with MCAA and has attended most annual and midyear meetings of MCAA during the past 25 years.

"He is a testament to what can be achieved in life and in masonry with hard work, foresight, selflessness and helping others. He has advanced those around him including myself.

"Calvin's entry and recognition into the MCAA Hall of Fame at the national level is well deserved and would be a great addition to his peers that he would be joining. I strongly recommend consideration of his being brought into this elite group that recognizes those who have gone above and beyond over the years in giving back to our industry."

- Doug Burton, President, Whitman Masonry, NCMCA Past-President

"Congratulations on an amazing career in the construction business. You are a role model to so many aspiring entrepreneurs, not just contractors, but in all occupations."

- Tick Clancy, Executive Vice President, Clancy & Theys Construction Company

"I have known Calvin for 30+ years; our companies are close in age and we perform masonry in the same market. I respect what he has accomplished and the company he has built. I'm certain running a large masonry contracting business like he does that there is much stress involved, but you wouldn't know it. Calvin is cool as a cucumber.

"I would like to add that Calvin suffers from FOMO – fear of missing out. He doesn't miss an opportunity to be amongst his peers. He attends all national, state, and local masonry meetings; he is present at all apprentice contests; and he doesn't miss the chance to play golf, hunt or fish with fellow contractors. He is definitely one that can be counted on."

- Danks Burton, President, Pinnacle Masonry, Past NCMCA President

Retired NCMCA Executive Vice President Lynn Nash says, "Calvin Brodie is a true success in both business and in life. Despite the unfair challenges that minority people encounter in most any endeavor, he has earned admiration and genuine respect from his peers, competitors and customers. And he's done it as a minority businessman always intent on rising above societal challenges, holding no one responsible for his success or failure except for himself.

"It was my great honor and privilege to be asked by friends and colleagues to prepare Calvin's Hall-of-Fame nomination on their behalf. Calvin is a valued and trusted personal friend. He is a gentleman's gentleman. We believe Calvin Brodie exemplifies what the Mason Contractors Association of America Masonry Hall-of-Fame is all about."

Thanks to Lynn Nash for a wonderful nomination letter he submitted to MCAA. Much credit to you for a wonderful letter.

Message From the President:

"Fall is upon us and I hope everyone has had a safe and productive summer. We have had some exciting events take place since March and September and October are full of important dates and events, so please take a moment and read the newsletter thoroughly for these important updates. Phase II of the NCMCA Workforce Development Initiative has begun with the rolling out of the NCMCA's Adopt a School program this Fall in High School masonry programs across the state. Our Regional Vice President's Doug Burton, Brandon Hartsell and Don Caldwell will be spearheading this program and be coordinating with many of you to actively begin building relationships with students and teachers in our High School masonry programs. Please be on the lookout for a phone call, text or email soliciting your help with a program. Your help will be vital in continuing to grow and develop the best Workforce Development program in the country and to ensure the future of the masonry industry. Each one of you has a unique story in masonry which can relate to a young person. Please be willing to share it. See you at our next Board Meeting on October 26th!"

Hands On Day for Instructors

On July 20, masonry instructors spent a day gaining continuing education from representatives from the masonry industry. NC SkillsUSA, Stabila, EZG Manufacturing and Adams/Oldcastle provided an opportunity for hands-on demonstrations. The instructors were hosted at McGee Brothers Company's Greensboro location, co-hosted by NCMCA and Adams/Oldcastle. Some 25 instructors participated in the event coordinated by NCMCA's Ryan Shaver.

Certification Update

The eleventh series of NCMCA Masonry Contractors Association classes is nearing an end. On August 9, Doug Burton and attorney Thomas Davis instructed Module 8 "Advanced Bidding Workshop." Over 70 participants representing 21 companies were in attendance. More than twenty two of the participants completed their certification classes and will be reviewed by the NCMCA Certification Program Board of Governors. Once the board approves the applicants, they will be approved as a CME (Certified Masonry Executive) or a CMP (Certified Masonry Professional). Congratulations to each of these individuals for their accomplishment and for doing their part to help keep the NC masonry industry among the best anywhere. Bob Dusin and Mark Hinderliter team instructed Module 9 "Management Strategies for Masonry Contractors" and Module 10 "High-Performance Teams and Customer Service" on September 6 & 7 in Mt. Pleasant at 73 & Main. These modules are required for Certified Masonry Executive (CME) candidates. The Board of Governors for NCMCA Certification Program will be meeting soon to review 23 CME applications and 30 CMP applications. Congratulations to everyone and all of your hard work!

Chapter News!

Metrolina

Metrolina Chapter had a chapter meeting August 30th with special guest speaker James Cain . He's the President of the Southeast Concrete Masonry Association – SCMA. He discussed the check-off program with over 30 Metrolina members and guest in attendance.

We also had special guest Bo Black, the NCMCA President in attendance. He followed James's presentation with a follow-up to the adopt a High school program that was discussed in the previous meeting. He touched on opportunities to engage with local high schools and how each participating association member with a pre-apprenticeship program would be assigned a neighboring school. This does not only pertain to masonry contractors. It includes our associate members as well. For more details on how to participate or contribute to this program contact Ryan Shaver.

Upcoming events for Metrolina Chapter as follows:

Sept. 26th— Meeting Cancelled.

September 28—NCMCA Annual Fall Golf Tournament (Mebane, NC)

October 5—Masonry Education Day (Stalite-Ben Ketchie Park, Gold Hill, NC)

October 16—68th Annual Masonry Apprentice State Fair Contest (Raleigh, NC)

November 8—Metrolina Golf Tournament (Mooresville, NC)

Land of the Sky

The Land of The Sky Chapter held its monthly meeting for August on 8/22. Ray Gill with Wayah Insurance Group was with us speaking on different types of policies. Jamie Brown, the masonry instructor at Chase High School has been bringing students from his masonry class to our meetings. We invite the local high school instructors to our meetings and encourage them to bring student(s) to get them engaged with contractors and to get started in the masonry industry. Ryan Shaver will be with us on 9/26 speaking on the Adopt-A-School program. Prosoco Chemicals will be with us on 10/17 with the main topics being Masonry Cleaning and Efflorescence Removing, but also telling us about the other masonry products they offer. Steve Wheeler with EZ-G Manufacturing will tentatively be with us on 11/21 talking about their products along with Malta Dynamics' products. All in all, our chapter is strong and growing.

Raleigh

The Raleigh Chapter picked back up meeting on the first Monday in August after taking July off for the summer. There were 33 in attendance. We had Rod Wilce with OSHA Consultative for our program. Rod gave an overview of the benefits of the OSHA Consultative Program and focused on employer obligations when using subcontractors, and proactive steps to ensure that your company has a safety program in place that protects your business. For September, Donnie Howard, with Argos, will be giving a presentation on "Cements for Masonry", one that has been shared with us before but always a good refresher. Raleigh Chapter member, Calvin Brodie, will be inducted into the MCAA Hall of Fame this month. He is a legend in our industry on the local and national level. Congrats Mr. Brodie! In October we will have our annual social at Milburnie Fishing Club hosted by Custom Brick & Supply. Our last meeting of the year will be held on Monday November 6th at Cantina 18. Come join us!

Central Piedmont

The Central Piedmont Chapter will be having a meeting October 9th. The location hasn't been determined yet. Bob Sullivan with CFI Foam will be our speaker, we encourage everyone to come out for this informative meeting. We'll send the location as soon as we get it nailed down.

Western

The Western Chapter will meet again on October 10th, location is unknown at this time. We will let everyone know when decided.

Eastern

The Eastern Chapter recently had a meeting on September 14 in Wilmington with Megan Elfert from York Flashing presenting. Thirty five people came out to show their support. We appreciate it. We have our 1st annual fishing tournament in the Outer Banks on October 5 & 6, 2023 The MCAA Mid-Year meeting was another success with very strong representation from NC. Congratulations to Calvin Brodie being elected into the Hall of Fame. If you are not a NCMCA or MCAA member, we strongly encourage you to join and continue your support for our industry!

2023 Seventh Annual Masonry Education Day

Johnson Concrete Products and Stalite's Ben Ketchie Park (16740 Old Beatty Ford Road Gold Hill, NC 28071) is the site for a big day of masonry events happening soon. On Thursday, October 5th, the seventh annual Masonry Education Day for high schools across the region will feature the SPEC MIX Bricklayer 500 Carolina Qualifier. More than 800 students from 30+ schools will attend for masonry tutorials, lunch and the opportunity to watch teams of brick masons and tenders battle for a competition spot for SPEC MIX BRICK-LAYER 500 World Championship competition held in Las Vegas. Volunteers and masonry professionals needed for Masonry Education Day activities with the students. This a great opportunity to meet young people and encourage them to masonry careers.
